A machine shop that brings together machinists, welders and engineers, many with decades of experience, under one roof, is not something you see everywhere. It is Rainville Industries' signature that makes the difference for your projects. They are proud to hold the Merchandise Controller accreditation, as well as the Canadian Welding Bureau - Division 2 (CWB-2) accreditation, which allows them to call upon a welding support engineer when the project requires it.

All you have to do is entrust them with the manufacture of your tools, whether it is a lifting, positioning or any other tool necessary for the proper functioning of your productivity! Design, machinery, welding, electrical, hydraulic or pneumatic movements, painting, quality control tests... They have the expertise and equipment necessary to carry out your project successfully. Because 90 years of experience builds skills.
